Announcement of Cessation of Product Support:
SureCAL® Power Sensor Product Line
Effective August 1, 2017

As of the Effective Date above, SureCAL Products, a subsidiary of Northrop Grumman Corporation, will no longer sell, or enter into contracts to provide support or other services for, the SureCAL Power Sensor series of software products, formerly distributed by Tegam, Inc,

For current customers holding licenses to the Power Sensor products and current Software Maintenance Service contract, please be advised that SureCAL Products will continue to provide the contracted maintenance and other services through the contract period, which will not be extended or renewed. Please note that your license to use the Power Sensor products is perpetual, however SureCAL Products will not provide regular updates or services after the SMS contract expires.

SureCAL regrets any inconvenience our valued customers may experience from this decision, which was necessitated by a decline in sales volumes and difficulties in adapting this product for use on current hardware systems. SureCAL continues to provide a broad range of automated calibration software to customers world-wide, and invites you to review our products at https://www.northropgrumman.com/cyber/surecal-calibration-software/.

For any questions regarding the above announcement, please contact SureCAL Customer Support at surecal@ngc.com or call 1-800-913-3773 from 8am-4pm Eastern Time.